Perils of Land and Sea.

For many years, Captain Willnef, says the Times of Gloucester, Mass., was one of the best known seamen in the Glouces-The catarrhal troubles with which he suffered for fifteen years made him dread the nights at sea, being unable to lie down and sleep on account of the constant catarrhal dropping. Captain Willnef went to two different hospitals for treatment, but could get no lasting benefit. He constantly raised yellow and green phiegm and his trouble be-came so unbearable and nauseating that he was ashamed to go out in company. When despairing of ever getting relief his wife purchased a Hyomei outfit for him, and, trying it before going to bed, he enjoyed the first whole night's sleep for ten years. Captain Willnef says: "I have used less than two bottles of Hyomei and have been cured by the remedy."

Hyomei kills the germs of catarrh and makes lasting and permanent cures. Henry Evans sells Hyomei under his personal guarantee to refund the money if it

THE GOVERNMENT PRINTERY.

Matters of Interest in the Big Workshop.

Again the members of Columbia Typographical Union are called upon to mourn the loss by death of another esteemed associate. George D. Hughes, a former employe of the war branch, and at one time of the old third division, government printing office. Mr. Hughes when taken with the fatal illness in this city went to his home at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., with the hope that the change would benefit him. He died, however, several days ago and was buried at the place of his birth.

The members of the fourth division chapel have re-elected Mr. John P. Smith chairman and Mr. S. F. McDonough secretary. The battle of the ballots which is to take place next Wednesday in all the chapels on the eight-hour proposition and others, is being generally discussed throughout the big printery. An old-time printer in the office, who is regarded as something of a prophet, predicts that a large majority of the compositors in the government printing office will "vote straight for Ben Frankproposition-eight hours for work; eight hours for rest and recreation and eight hours for sleep," as the old-timer expressed it.

The undivided vote of the second division was cast, it is said, for William H. Cornish for chairman and E. J. Newcombe for secretary of the chapel.

Mr. Robert P. Pichoff has been elected thairman of the third division chapel.

It is announced that the local bookbinders' union has voted on the several propositions which were submitted to it by the international body. The proposition to pay the international president an annual salary was overwhelmingly defeated, it is claimed Another proposition (No. 7), to increase the salary of the international secretary and have him take charge of the official organ of the association, was also defeated, it is stated. Owing to ill health, Mr. Stuart C. Gordon of the fourth division has gone to New Mexico with the hope that the change of climate may benefit him.

It was alleged by the policeman that while the funeral procession of the late Postmaster General Payne was passing along Pennsylvania avenue near the post office yesterday the defendant slapped his (the policeman's) horse, adding that as a result the horse came near knocking down a small boy. The latter was saved by a woman. The defendant denied that he had touched the policeman's horse, and had a number of witnesses to substantiate what he said. NEW HIGHWAY BRIDGE.

Opening of Educational, Religious and Rev. Stanley Bilheimer Severs Rela- Work on the Structure is Progressing Satisfactorily.

> The work of building the new highway bridge across the Potomac is progressing rapidly, and before cold weather sets in the work will be considerably advanced. Several of the stone piers, at both the Virginia and Washington ends of the bridge, are completed, and work is being pushed on the pier on which the draw is to rest and on the finder piers on each side of it, a large force of men and many scows and barges being employed in the work. The construction of the steel structure has com-menced at the Washington end, the stringers which are to support the new bridge having been placed in position several days ago. At the Virginia end of the bridge the pile work on which the new structure is to rest is being put in position and is being made ready for the traveling derrick to be built on it. The work on the highway bridge is advancing much more rapidly than it did on the new railway bridge, as it was several months after the piers were completed before the steel work was started. The big blocks of stone of which the piers are built are stored near the entrance to the tidal basin and are taken to the site of the pler as they are wanted. In building the piers the same plan used in the construction of the piers for the railway bridge is being followed. A cofferdam is first built around the site of the pier, and with powerful pumps it is kept free from water while the workmen are engaged in laying the massive granite blocks.

How We Conduct an Auction. We are thoroughly imbued with the idea that an auction business should and can be conducted along as honorable lines as any business in Washington, or elsewhere for that matter, and it is to this end we are striving. The auctioneer occupies a dual position, representing as he does both seller and buyer, and he should manifestly be fair to both, using his best efforts and skill as a salesman in behalf of the seller, and yet not unmindful of the interests of and yet not unmindful of the interests of those who buy.

But why go to an auction? Where is there a better, safer, easier or fairer way to dispose of property, with which choice or necessity bids you part, than the auction house where confidence is not misplaced? Or, if a buyer, where can you get more for your outlay in the purchase of such articles suitable to your requirements which some one is willing to sell to the highest bidder?

It is with no little pride that we number It is with no little pride that we number among our patrons some of the best people of Washington; and whether it be the wealthy who is looking for some rare article or household necessity, or some humble cottager seeking the most his money will pled with what we believe proper profes-sional skill, abilities and facilities, that we solicit the patronage of the people. Very respectfully, Wilson & Mayers, Auctioneers,
